

Krisann Draves, MSN, ARNP

Instructor

Cocoa Campus

Teaching: I have worked as an adjunct instructor for UCF since 2004 and was also a graduate teaching assistant (GTA) during my Masters in nursing program at UCF. However, in August I became a full-time instructor for the BSN program at the UCF Brevard Campus. I am currently teaching, at the junior level: "Community Health Nursing" course and clinical, as well as health assessment lab. In addition, I teach the pediatric acute care clinical and community health nursing clinical for the senior BSN students. Furthermore, I was a guest speaker on, "Care of the Pediatric Orthopedic Patient" at Holmes Regional Medical Center for the Health First Center for Learning. I have my MSN and I am an ARNP. I am also a Certified Pediatric Nurse Practitioner

Research: My current research focuses on injury prevention in the pediatric population: the role of the primary care practitioner.

Service:

- 2005-2006      Provided education to the elderly at Asbury Arms to help them understand the new Medicare prescription drug plans and assisted in their selection of a plan.
- 2004-2005      Participated in "Bone Zone" school-age, bone health education program.
- 2003-2005      Jump Ropes to Stethoscopes
- 1998-2006      Church Volunteer

Education: Krisann Draves received her BSN in Nursing at Central Missouri State University and she received her MSN as a Pediatric Nurse Practitioner at the University of Central Florida.

Awards:

- 2002-2006      Advanced Education Nursing Traineeship Award
